If the drought continues it must consist largely of common granulating lugs and green tips. Should rains set in the tobacco now standing must take the second growth, which will render it almost impossible to cure bright and will make a very large per cent of common dark tobaccos.

The quantity of wrappers in the crop will be less than in any crop made for years, excepting the 1891 crop which is recognized as coming nearer having no wrappers than any crop ever made.

as coming nearer having no wrappers than any crop ever made.

Owing to tobaccos firing so badly on the hill a very leavy per cent, of the growing tobacco crop has been cut, and a much larger percentage of that left standing in the fields is badly burned and going rapidly to waste. The crop as a whole promises to have but little color. It is by no means an uncommon sight to see whole fields with little yellow tobacco plants just peeping out of the hills, and anylone who knows anything about the weed knows that at this season of the year such tobacco will not be worth the cutting.

The Courier Journal of Monday mor ning The Courier Journal of Monday mor hing August 22, 1892, reports the Louisville (Ky.) tobacco market for the past week as follows: "The offerings this week have been liberal and the market has ruled strong on all grades. For everything of a colory nature, sweet and in good condition, the demand has continued active at high figures, and being transfer expecially seem to have and bright trashes especially seem to have advanced almost continually. The red bur-leys, which showed so much strength last week, were also well sustained, though the week, were also well sustained, though the speculative buying in these grades was not so conspicuous. The manufacturers have controlled the market all week, being apparently entirely satisfied to pay the ruling prices, and showing their desire for stocks by their active bidding. The growing sections have been visited by rain, but the trade seems to have settled down on the conclusion that the next crop will be deficient in quality and quantity, and the weather question has not cut much if any figure in the fixture of prices. The range is based on legitimate needs and the estimated resources, which have given to the market a healthy, desirable tone."

spired by the achievements of women in Great Britain, and the present lady cham-pion of America, Miss Mabel E. Cahill, is an Irish girl who has been in America only a year or two. The six comely English girls, whose pictures appear in this article, are the best players of their sex in Great Britain.

Miss Charlotte Dod is lady champion of the United Kingdom. She was only seventeen years of age when she won the championship, in 1886, from Miss Maud Watson. She is a tall, strong girl, and she not only plays tennis with matchless skill, but she also rows and skates well and is an expert at golf. Mrs. Hillyard ranks next to Miss Dod, for she has been champion of the United Kingdom twice, and she and E. Renshaw won the mixed doubles of England four years ago. Her husband was one of Lord Hawke's cricket team when it visited America last year

MISS M. LANGRISHE. MISS LANGRISHE. Miss Bertha Steedman is a very talented player. She and her sister, who is now Mrs. Vane, won the all England champion ship doubles in 1890.

Miss Langrishe and Miss May Langrishe are both famous tennis players. Miss May has won the Irish singles championship twice, and she and her sister once captured the Irish doubles. Miss May and Miss Dod together won the ladies' doubles of England three successive years.

Miss Helen Jackson is champion of Scotland, and her list of victories is a long and very creditable one.

At Rochester he was second in the two mile safety handicap. At Syracuse he cap-tured the same event from scratch. When the King's county wheelmen held their meet at New York Munger won the two mile safety race from scratch in 2m. 32s. After several other creditable performances Munger electrified the wheeling world by making a new half mile world's record-1m. 8 3-5s.-at Springfield, Ills., July 4. At New York, July 9, he was second to P. J. Berle in the Riverside wheelmen's ten mile American championship race.

The Yacht Alpha. A swift yacht that has attracted much attention in eastern waters of late is the centerboard flier Alpha. She is only a twenty-one footer, but she has outsailed the fastest yachts of her dimensions in the neighborhood of Boston.

She has only eight feet beam, and her sail spread is small compared with that of her rivals, but she is so admirably constructed that her speed is phenomenal.

We hear the constant complaint of people being swindled through advertisements from New York and Chicago as follows: "A life-size cravon portrait free of charge to any one sending photo," &c. The result is that in order to get pictures you are compelled to buy a frame at $8 or $10, the same that we would be glad to sell for $3, thus allowing them even more (for this unseen print) than our photographers here would charge. I can refer you to people who have been thus duped and show you the frames and pictures gotten. I think this explanation due the people of Riehmond as well as myself and other dealers.
